STORYCORPS MILITARY VOICES AIRING IN MAY

Recordings from local Alaskans are set to roll out for Military Appreciation Month.

During the summer of 2023, the award-winning series, StoryCorps, brought their Military Voices initiative to Alaska - giving our local veterans, active duty service members, and their families an opportunity to share their stories. StoryCorps is committed to the idea that everyone has an important story to tell and that everyone's story matters. Their mission is to help us believe in each other by illuminating the humanity and possibility in us all — one story at a time.

For the recording process, participants shared their stories in an interview style by a friend or family member. The guided conversations were recorded by StoryCorps staff both virtually and in-person, making the opportunity available to as many people as possible. Participants had the option to have their story archived at the Library of Congress in addition to going away with a recording of their own.

Audio Media Content Producer Ammon Swenson said, "It was a pleasure to listen to these conversations between our service men and women who told their diverse stories. I'm excited to share these small glimpses of life in the Armed Forces with our audience."

A select number of the interviews will air on 91.1FM KSKA during the month of May in between scheduled programming for Military Appreciation Month. In addition, the recordings will also be featured on Hometown, Alaska on Monday, May 20 at 10 a.m., repeating at 8 p.m.. You can hear the episode over the air at 91.1FM KSKA, online at alaskapublic.org or via smart speaker - just ask for KSKA.

SPACE: THE LONGEST GOODBYE

From Independent Lens, Space: The Longest Goodbye, comes to Alaska Public Media this Mental Health Awareness Month.

This documentary explores how the monumental task of keeping astronauts mentally stable in space is tested to the extreme in anticipation of NASA's pending Mars mission and its required three-year absence from Earth. During this absence, real-time communication with those on Earth would be impossible due to the immense distance. We meet the psychologists whose job is to keep astronauts mentally stable in outer space, as they are caught between their dream of reaching new frontiers and their basic human need to stay connected to home.

Director Ido Mizrahy said, "Our initial idea was to create a kind of historical document about the first crewed mission to Mars, but documentaries have a way of telling the filmmakers where the story wants to go. And so, a chance meeting with Dr. Al Holland, a senior NASA psychologist who ultimately became one of the central subjects in the documentary, was a transformational moment for us. The moment when our space story became a personal human drama. While painted on the extraordinary canvas of the agency's preparations for the first crewed mission to Mars, our story is about one of the most terrestrial challenges imaginable: the never-ending tension so many of us experience between our desire to pursue our dreams, and our equally powerful need to stay connected to our roots."

The psychological impact of this level of disconnectedness and isolation—both from mission control and loved ones— is impossible to predict, endangering the mission itself. Directed to mitigate this threat is Dr. Al Holland, a NASA psychologist whose job is to keep astronauts mentally stable in space. Space: The Longest Goodbye follows Holland, rookie astronauts Kayla Barron and Matthias Maurer, and former astronaut Cady Coleman, among others, as they grapple with the tension between their dream of reaching new frontiers and their basic human need to stay connected to home. This conflict transcends space travel: how do humans balance the quest for progress with a deep connection to history and each other?

Tune in on Monday, May 6, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV. The film will be available to stream, after broadcast, on the PBS App and on the PBS YouTube channel.

POMPEII: THE NEW DIG

All new three-part three-hour docuseries to come to Alaska Public Media TV and streaming on PBS.

Pompeii: The New Dig follows the most extensive archaeological excavation in Pompeii for a generation. Nearly two years in the making, with exclusive access to the dig and the all-Italian team of archaeologists, the series follows the excavation of an entire city block, unearthing what life was like in Pompeii before the eruption and the horror faced by the victims, and those who survived when Vesuvius erupted in AD 79.

Remarkably, in the excavation, archaeologists uncovered a fresco that looked like a pizza. This artwork, dating back 2,000 years, was discovered in the Regio IX section of Pompeii's archeological park, near Naples, where pizza originated. It was found on a wall in what seems to have been a hallway of a house, possibly connected to a bakery.

Order some takeout from your favorite local pizzeria and tune in for the new fascinating series on Wednesdays, May 15, 22, and 29, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV. Or, if you prefer to stream, watch the series on pbs.org and the PBS App after each broadcast.

NATURE: SAVING THE ANIMALS OF UKRAINE

This episode chronicles the extraordinary efforts of Ukrainian citizens to rescue their animals.

Amid violence and war, Ukrainian citizens are coming together to rescue animals that have been left behind by those forced to flee. Directed by travel YouTube vlogger turned war correspondent Anton Ptushkin, the documentary chronicles stories of survival, love and resilience from the heart of war-torn Ukraine. See those rescuing cats and dogs in abandoned buildings as well as lions and tigers in the nation's zoos, and the extraordinary efforts to bring them to safety. Hear from volunteers of the nation's animal shelters, who are risking their own lives to care for their charges during bombardment. Meet Patron, the bomb-detecting Jack Russell Terrier who has saved countless lives, as well as Shafa, a cat in Borodyanka who becomes a symbol of hope.

"I never imagined I would become a war or nature documentarian, but when this war began, I was so inspired by the footage of people trying to save their pets," said director Anton Ptushkin. "I knew I wanted to tell the story of the important relationship between the Ukrainian people and their animals. Animals have helped us cope with the stress and consequences of this war, and I'm honored to showcase their stories of resiliency alongside those of the humans rescuing them."

"This film is a tribute to the very best of the human spirit despite the horrors of war," said Fred Kaufman, Executive Producer for Nature. "We're honored to showcase these stories on Nature and hope viewers are inspired by the heroes in this film and never take for granted the hope and joy that animals bring us even in the darkest of times."

Witness a moving view into the effects of war on animals, and the humans who help them, in Nature: Saving the Animals of Ukraine, premiering Wednesday, May 15 at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV, pbs.org/nature, NATURE's YouTube Channel and the PBS App.
