PBS NEWSHOUR'S JUDY WOODRUFF VISITS ALASKA PUBLIC MEDIA The Award-winning Journalist Shared About Her New Series on Alaska Insight

Judy Woodruff, of PBS NewsHour fame, came to Alaska recently, and stopped by Alaska Public Media to record a very special Alaska Insight, with Lori Townsend. They talked about Judy's series - America at a Crossroads - and about Alaska. It is evident in the program and AKPM's staff interaction, how Judy epitomizes everything a good journalist should be. She is humble, kind, and approachable. We must be able to connect with people to do our journalism work well, and Judy shows us through every story she reports that she is someone you can truly connect with, trust....and talk to.

Judy Woodruff has been an award-winning journalist for more than five decades, the last, nearly 30 as reporter and anchor of the PBS NewsHour. She turned the anchor duties over to Jeff Bennett and Amna Nawaz as she began a two-year reporting project to seek answers to the pressing questions about what Americans want to see for the nation's political and cultural direction and the deep ideological divide over those decisions. These divisions mean our nation is not united, at a time when global problems require our attention.

Judy, as many of us, have seen divisive times and political turmoil in our nation in the past, but as we learn from Judy in her stellar series, America at a Crossroads, at no time in modern history have the divisions been so deep, so angry and so intractable.

We are grateful for Judy Woodruff's journalism work for helping us all gain knowledge and better understand our country and world. And we were thrilled to have her be on the Alaska Insight program.

Watch Judy's interview on Alaska Insight at alaskapublic.org/alaskainsight, the Alaska Public Media YouTube channel, or the PBS app. You can stream America at a Crossroads at pbs.org or the PBS app.

JOURNEY TO THE EXTREMES OF ALL SEVEN CONTINENTS

Watch the New Four-Part Series Dynamic Planet

Dynamic Planet, a monumental four-part series filmed over three years, travels to the most extreme places on all seven continents to explore the work and lives of extraordinary people and animals on the front lines of climate change. Highlighting what is under threat but also how the natural world is adapting in surprising ways, the series reveals how science, nature, and Indigenous knowledge can prepare us for the future.

With the Earth heating twice as fast as it was four decades ago, the implications for our planet and everything living on it are ominous. As temperatures rise, icecaps and glaciers melt, oceans warm, forests burn, and weather patterns change, leaving the world as we know it under threat. Ancient connections between plants, animals and people are undermined. The rules that dictated stability have been re-written with new climate change winners and losers exposed. Although the scale of the problem can seem overwhelming, local conservationists, scientists, and Indigenous leaders offer hope for the future. Their efforts show that it's not too late to adapt, correct past mistakes, and care for and protect our world.

The first episode, Ice, showcases familiar landscapes to the Alaskan viewer, but from far-away places like Greenland, India and Nepal. Researchers get up close with seals, humpback whales and polar bears to witness their adaptation to environmental changes. In contrast, the second episode Fire takes viewers to climates with record heatwaves, forest fires and drought. Followed by Episode 4 and 5, Water and Earth, combined, these four elements and episodes tell a story of extremes and hope.

Featuring stunning wildlife cinematography in some of the most remote places on Earth, Dynamic Planet premieres on four consecutive Wednesdays, June 19 through July 10, at 7 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV, and streaming on pbs.org and the PBS app.

ROOTS OF COMEDY WITH JESUS TREJO

Premieres Friday, June 21, at 9 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV

Part comedy, part social commentary, part travelogue, the series follows the host, Mexican-American comedian Jesus Trejo, as he embarks on an emotional odyssey and tells the “stories behind the laughs,” revealing how the most memorable comedy traces back to the roots of a community with themes that are central to the series. “No matter where you live or what your beliefs are, our love of laughter is something we all have in common,” commented Trejo. “Laughter opens our ears and our hearts--and once people are listening, who knows what they might be inspired to do?” Along his journey, Trejo visits six U.S. regions (Denver, Portland, Minneapolis, Austin, Los Angeles, and Chinle, Arizona) where he meets with six rising comedians who explore the mosaic of our nation through the lens of stand-up comedy.

Stream the six-episode series for free now on pbs.org and the PBS App.

D.I. RAY RETURNS FOR SEASON TWO

This Season Will Have You Questioning Everything

As you may recall, D.I. Rachita Ray, a British-Asian policewoman, has newly been added to her homicide unit. In Season One, she investigates the suspected honor killing of a young Muslim man, quickly debunking the theories of her superiors and colleagues. Although they reject her suspicions, she soon uncovers a more sinister motivation for the murder and a complex web of organized crime.

In the newest season, D.I. Ray is thrust back into homicide after the fatal shooting of an innocent nurse outside a Birmingham hospital. Plus, the head of a notorious crime family points to brewing tensions between rival crime families. As the clues unfold, and the situations become connected, Rachita will have viewers biting their nails and questioning who can be trusted.

Stream Season One now with AK Passport on PBS, then tune in for the Season Two premiere on Sunday, June 16, at 8 p.m. on Alaska Public Media TV. Season Two episodes will be available to stream on pbs.org and the PBS App after they air.

HOPE IN THE WATER HIGHLIGHTS AMAZING FOOD INNOVATION New Nature Docuseries Includes Work Being Done in Alaska

The three-part program from four-time James Beard Award and Emmy Award winner Chef Andrew Zimmern and his production company Intuitive Content, travel the globe to discover the creative solutions and breakthrough blue food technologies that could not only feed us but help save our threatened seas and fresh waterways.

The series highlights the stories of amazing innovators, aquafarmers, and fishers who are working toward a sustainable future for the planet - including state-of-the-art kelp farms in our very own Prince William Sound. Celebrated environmental enthusiasts Shailene Woodley, Martha Stewart, Baratunde Thurston, and José Andrés reveal hidden underworlds jeopardized by climate change, irresponsible fishing and exploitation, and habitat destruction. They are each authentically tied to a particular story, seeking smart solutions to a planet in peril. A brief overview of each one-hour episode is as follows:

Episode 1: The Fish in the Sea Wednesday, June 19 @ 8 p.m.

Journalist Baratunde Thurston travels to Puerto Rico to see a sustainable diamondback squid fishery born from the wreckage of 2017's Hurricane Maria. A native Hawaiian on Oahu has made it her life's work to restore an ancient fishpond filled with wild fish. On the Scottish Isle of Arran, two villagers beat the odds to establish the country's only no-take zone - an area closed to fishing and now filled with abundance.

Episode 2: Farming in Water Wednesday, June 26 @ 8 p.m.

Lifestyle guru Martha Stewart learns the ropes at a scallop farm off the coast of Maine. In Alaska, a native Eyak fisherman plants state-of-the-art kelp farms in Prince William Sound - an antidote to years of environmental destruction. A scientist in Vietnam and former livestock farmers in Minnesota are all trying to make the world's most popular seafood - shrimp - into a responsible bumper crop.

Episode 3: Changing the Menu Wednesday, July 3 @ 8 p.m.

Actor and environmentalist Shailene Woodley submerges with Santa Barbara divers who are turning unwanted "zombie" urchins into a marketable delicacy. In Philadelphia, a marine biologist and former teacher connects Atlantic fishers with inner-city high school students through a subscription fish program that features less popular fish. In Iceland, an economist fosters innovation to get the most out of a single cod, including a popular cod collagen soda.

Tune in on Alaska Public Media TV or stream the docuseries on pbs.org and the PBS App.
