ANNOUNCING THE ALASKA DESK

A new grant from CPB will fund more statewide Journalism collaboration.

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) has awarded a $936,000 grant to Alaska Public Media to lead the Alaska Desk, a statewide collaboration among public media stations, designed to strengthen and expand their local news services, particularly for rural communities.

"Alaska's public media stations provide a critical lifeline for many rural and Alaska Native communities, who depend on them as their sole source of news and public affairs coverage," said Ed Ulman, President of Alaska Public Media in Anchorage. "Roughly 80% of Alaska's communities cannot be reached by road, which means that information access is critical to making everyday decisions in remote areas, where resources can be costly to obtain."

The two-year grant will help fund four reporters based at public media stations throughout the state, three shared editors, as well as travel and equipment. The shared staff will increase the journalism capacity of public media television and radio stations in the state and will also support a full-time development officer, who will pursue additional funding sources to sustain local journalism.

"In just the last several years, CPB has invested more than $1.5 million to advance collaboration among Alaska public media stations, increase the numbers of editors, and raise the caliber of their fact-based reporting," said Patricia Harrison, president and CEO of CPB. "This additional support of $936,000 to Alaska Public Media will further strengthen the important public media information lifeline across the state."

Locally owned and operated public media stations in Alaska have a solid track record of working together. For years, they have distributed a daily weekday newscast, Alaska News Nightly, featuring reporters across the state. They also share Alaska's only full-time D.C. reporter, based in the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C. and employed by Alaska Public Media.

"CPB's continuing investment in Alaska journalism is a testament to the stellar reporting work of this decades-long news network. The funding will help bring more deeply reported stories to the air, connecting communities to trusted, factual information so Alaskans are well informed for future decision making," said Lori Townsend, Chief Editor & Senior Vice President of Journalism for Alaska Public Media.

Stations throughout the state have applied to become Alaska Desk partners — and commit to hosting a reporter and contributing their station's share of the costs. A governance committee made up of station representatives will determine the editorial vision and strategic priorities for this shared resource.

We look forward to sharing more as The Alaska Desk takes shape and begins reporting from around the state.

WOLF HALL RETURNS TO AK PASSPORT

After a nearly 10-year absence, a Masterpiece classic is back for you to binge.

While we wait for Wolf Hall: The Mirror and the Light, the long-awaited Masterpiece sequel based on the final novel in Hilary Mantel's multi award-winning trilogy, Masterpiece: Wolf Hall is back and available to stream with AK Passport.

A historical drama for a modern audience, Masterpiece: Wolf Hall, the 2016 Peabody Award and Golden Globe winner for Best Television Limited Series or Motion Picture Made for Television, tells the story of Thomas Cromwell, played by Mark Rylance (Bridge of Spies, Twelfth Night)—a blacksmith's son who rises from the ashes of personal disaster, and deftly picks his way through a court where “man is wolf to man.” Damian Lewis (Homeland) is King Henry VIII, haunted by his brother's premature death and obsessed with protecting the Tudor dynasty by securing his succession with a male heir to the throne. The cast also includes Claire Foy (The Queen, Little Dorrit) as the future queen Anne Boleyn.

Adapted from Hilary Mantel's best-selling Booker Prize-winning novels Wolf Hall and its sequel, Bring Up the Bodies, Wolf Hall follows the complex machinations and back room dealings of accomplished power broker Cromwell, who must serve king and country while dealing with deadly political intrigue, Henry VIII's tempestuous relationship with Anne Boleyn, and the religious upheavals of the Protestant reformation.

Cromwell, a man with only his wits to rely on, has no great family to back him, and no private army. Navigating the moral complexities that accompany the exercise of power in this brutal and bloody time, Cromwell is caught between his desire to do what is right and his instinct to survive. But in the wake of Henry VIII executing his queen, no one is safe.

Despite rebellion at home, traitors plotting abroad and the threat of invasion testing Henry's regime to breaking point, Cromwell's robust imagination sees a new country in the mirror of the future. All of England lies at his feet, ripe for innovation and religious reform. But as fortune's wheel turns, Cromwell's enemies are gathering in the shadows. The inevitable question remains: how long can anyone survive under Henry's cruel and capricious gaze?

Eagerly awaited and years in the making, Wolf Hall: The Mirror and the Light will pick up where Masterpiece: Wolf Hall ended and trace the final four years of Cromwell's life, completing his journey from self-made man to the most feared, influential figure of his time. Cromwell is as complex as he is unforgettable: a politician and a fixer, a diplomat and a father, a man who both defied and defined his age.

Stream Masterpiece: Wolf Hall now with AK Passport and keep your eyes open for dates for its rebroadcast in October.

COLLECT AND LEARN WITH CARL THE COLLECTOR

New PBS KIDS series is the first to feature central characters on the autism spectrum.

Carl the Collector, a new animated series for children ages 4-8, is coming to PBS KIDS this fall. The series breaks new ground as the first PBS KIDS show to feature central characters on the autism spectrum. Through its relatable stories, characters, and messages, and with a production team that includes neurodiverse writers, production staff, animators, advisors, and voice talent, Carl the Collector showcases and celebrates our differences and commonalities, and that we all have something unique to offer.

The series follows the everyday adventures of Carl, a warm-hearted autistic raccoon who enjoys collecting things and loves his friends and family in Fuzzytown. Carl pays extraordinarily close attention to detail and comes up with unique ideas that others might not consider. These traits have helped him amass his extensive collections—from autographs and bottle caps to fake mustaches, pet rocks, sweaters, and virtually everything in between—which can come in handy for solving problems around the neighborhood with his friends.

Carl's friends include Sheldon, an empathetic beaver with a knack for connecting people and soft spot for the underdog. As Carl's best friend, he is attuned to Carl's unique logic and ways of looking at the world, sometimes helping him navigate complex social nuances when necessary. Carl's friend Lotta, a quiet and self-assured fox, is also autistic. She experiences hypersensitivity to loud sounds, powerful smells, and certain food textures, and has exceptional talents in art and music. Other friends include Nico and Arugula, identical twin bunny sisters whose personalities couldn't be more different, making their quest to define their individual identities extra complicated. And Forrest, a hyperactive and impulsive squirrel with a tree nut allergy, who is always down for an impromptu adventure.

In each episode, Carl and his friends work and play together, and in the process, find out what makes each of them who they are. As a perfectionist, when Carl does something, he wants to do it well. He sometimes struggles with anxiety in new situations and has difficulty when things don't go according to plan, like in the episode "The Fall," when Nico trips and falls and Carl freezes up, unsure of how to help. In "The Fake Mustache Collection," Nico grows frustrated that no one can tell her and Arugula apart until Carl uses his great eye for detail to help address Nico's concern.

"The world of Fuzzytown is designed to be a place where all viewers will see themselves or someone they know in it," said Creator and Executive Producer, Zachariah O'Hara. "We hope Carl and his friends will encourage empathy and understanding, and ultimately show that everyone benefits when we recognize and embrace our differences."

Digital content for kids, families, and teachers will launch at the same time as the series and reinforce its core messages of self-discovery and identity as well as recognizing and encouraging empathy for the many ways people think and behave.

Produced by Fuzzytown Productions and Emmy-nominated Spiffy Pictures (Donkey Hodie, Nature Cat), Carl the Collector will premiere on November 14, 2024, on PBS KIDS in English and Spanish.
